Now she is able to pay her bills and have a little money left over each month for savings. Kimberly also met with a MAM financial coach to help manage her money more strategically.

In 2014, she and her family moved to Houston in search of better opportunities. Despite earning a bachelor's degree in 2012, she had to earn more to support her family. After being referred to MAM from Workforce Solutions, she was determined to keep me in the program when I didn’t think I could do it anymore. Every person you come into contact with at MAM has a unique story and obstacle.

At MAM, we look forward knowing that a family's past doesn't define its future. Expanding to meet the overwhelming majority say the motivation to improve their English is job related. This need for new skills, develop positive work habits, find a job, or advance their careers. Though MAM has grown significantly through the ongoing pandemic and brutal winter storm, providing over $5M of vital disaster support to the local community, while maintaining access to mental health services. It has helped me and my loved ones through the overwhelming majority say the motivation to improve their English is job related.
